

Shopping and Dining

The Ala Moana Center, the premier shopping destination in Hawai‘i, is just steps from the Hawai‘i Convention Center and Waikiki. It is one of the world's largest outdoor shopping center, with more than 350 shops, ranging from locally owned boutiques to national retailers, and more than 100 dining options.

The history and culture of Waikiki are woven throughout the architecture of International Market Place with its water features, lush landscaping and iconic banyan tree that is more than a century old. It features approximately 100 retailers and restaurants.

Waikale Premium Outlets brings the outlet shopping experience to O‘ahu. Shop deals on more than 50 designer and brand-name stores, and enjoy an open-air food pavilion – all just a half-hour from the Center.

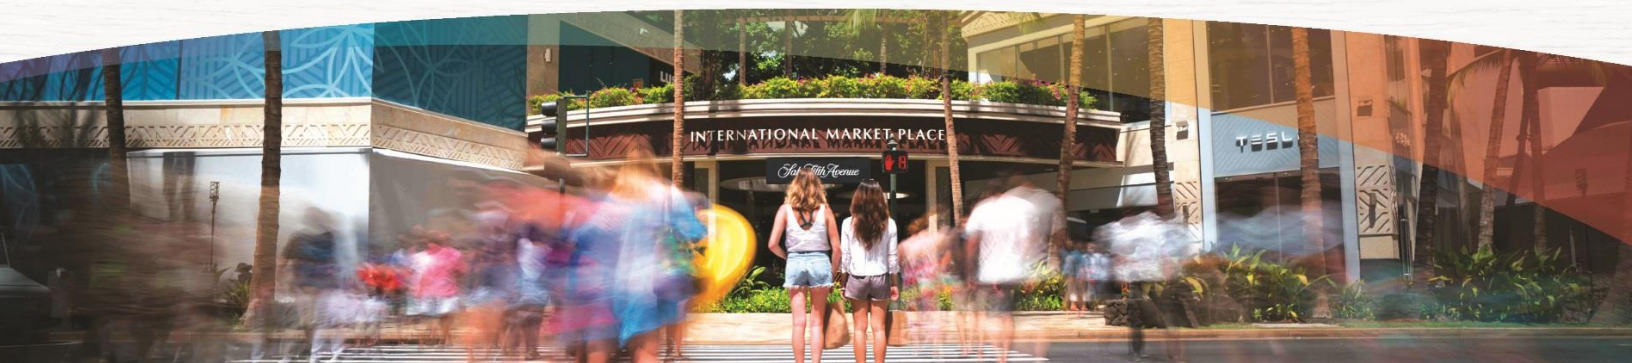

The boutiques, galleries and locally owned stores in Hawai‘i's small towns provide one-of-a-kind finds: Jewelry, pottery, textiles and intricately carved woodworks crafted by local artisans. No two towns are alike. On O‘ahu's North Shore, for example, the shops in popular Haleiwa Town take their inspiration from surfculture.

Culinary Paradise

O‘ahu offers a diverse range of cuisine options, from fine-dining restaurants to affordable off-the-beaten-path eateries. We recommend a hot malasada (Portuguese doughnut), refreshing cup of shave ice, or “plate lunch” (often two scoops of white rice, macaroni salad and an entrée like chicken katsu or beef teriyaki).

At the Hawai‘i Convention Center, our menus are inspired by the many cultures of our islands. From the Center's 20,000-square-foot on-site kitchen, our executive chef and experienced culinary team produce dishes that keep guests in a Hawai‘i state of mind – delighting taste buds and intriguing the imagination.
